The "Free Legal Aid" Page Layout

This page needs to look authoritative, highly confidential, and empathetic. It must clearly communicate that Takweyat's legal network provides high-quality, pro-bono (free) representation to those who truly cannot afford justice.

Introduction

Headline: Justice is a Fundamental Right, Not a Privilege. Body Text: At Takweyat (تقویت), we believe that a fair trial and legal protection are constitutional rights that should never be denied due to poverty or social status. Led by experienced legal professionals and criminal defense advocates, our Legal Aid Network provides absolute pro-bono (free of charge) legal counseling and court representation to the marginalized, the oppressed, and the voiceless. If you are facing gross injustice, unlawful harassment, or a violation of your basic human rights, our coalition of volunteer lawyers stands ready to defend you.

1. Scope of Cases We Take

To manage public expectations, clearly define the types of cases your network accepts.

- Criminal Defense for the Marginalized: Representation for innocent, low-income individuals facing wrongful accusations, illegal detention, or those unable to afford a lawyer for under-trial proceedings.
- Human Rights & Constitutional Violations: Fighting cases of unlawful harassment, exploitation, missing persons, or severe violations of fundamental citizen rights by state or private actors.
- Domestic Violence & Family Protection: Immediate legal support for victims of domestic abuse, including protection orders, maintenance, and child custody support for vulnerable women and orphans.
- Public Interest Litigation (PIL): Challenging unjust laws, systemic corruption, or environmental hazards (like climate negligence) that affect the broader community or vulnerable populations.
- Note: We do not accept commercial, corporate, or property/land disputes unless they involve the direct exploitation of a highly vulnerable individual.

2. Eligibility Criteria

Establish clear boundaries to ensure the service reaches those who genuinely need it. Text: Our resources and volunteer hours are dedicated strictly to those in extreme need. To qualify for Takweyat's free legal aid, applicants must meet the following criteria:

1. Financial Inability: Must be unable to afford standard legal fees (proof of income or a genuine declaration of financial hardship is required).
2. Merit of the Case: The case must involve a genuine violation of rights, a threat to liberty, or severe exploitation.
3. Vulnerability Status: Priority is given to widows, orphans, minorities, under-trial prisoners without representation, and victims of extreme physical or mental abuse.

3. How to Apply (The 4-Step Process)

A simple roadmap so users know exactly what to expect after they reach out.

1. Initial Submission: Fill out our confidential legal aid form below or contact our dedicated helpline.
2. Merit & Eligibility Review: Our screening committee (comprising senior advocates) will review the facts of your case and your financial eligibility within 48 to 72 hours.
3. Confidential Consultation: If approved, you will be invited to our Islamabad Head Office or our Gujar Khan Legal Chamber for a secure, face-to-face consultation.
4. Legal Action: A dedicated volunteer advocate will be assigned to draft your petition, file your case, or represent you in court—completely free of charge.
